FRANCIS JOSEPH ACTS WITH KAISER

Dual Monarchy in Conference Over Note to be Sent America

MEETING IN VIENNA

Austria Regarded as Friend of United States, and Her Participation Regarded Good Omen.

Washington June 28—United action will be represented in the German reply to the American note. Advices from Vienna and Berlin idicate that a draft of the communication is under consideration in the Austrian capital today, along with matters of Germanic-Balkan policy.

Participating in the conference were Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor; the German Emperor; Gottlieb von Jagow, the German foreign minister, and Baron von Dajecj, the Austrian foreign minister.

It is expected that when the German representatives return to Berlin the work of completing the communication which means so much to the future of the United States will be hurried. It is expected that the note will be in the hands of this Government one week from today.

The fact that Germany has asked the views of her ally, Austria, in preparing this communication, as now appears to be the case, adds to the hopefulness of the general German situation.

Austria is very friendly to this Goverpment and the Austrian foreign office is understood to have opposed the indiscriminate use of submarines against passenger carrying merchantmen.

Meanwhile the complications with Great Britain have shoved interest in the German developments to the side. The greatest campaign of protest that has evidenced itself since the commencement of the war is rapidly developing.

The cotton growers of the South, with a new crop almost in their hands, the American Association of Importers, the national organization of exporters and the big meat packers of the west are uniting for common action to force President Wilson to take action to compel England to modify her order in council so that the rights of American merchants under international law shall be safeguarded.

POPE'S POSITION.

Pontiff Believed to be Strongly Pro-German And Anti-Italian.

Rome, June 28.—Rome newspapers devoted several columns last week to comments on the interview with Pope Benedict XV published in La Liberte of Paris. They are unanimous in declaring the official explanation given in the Osservatore Romano is unsatisfactory.

The Idea Nazionale invites the Vatican to point out what statements in the interview are incorrect and continues:

"The general tone of the interview shows the Pope is strongly pro-German and anti-Italian."

In thec harge that the Italian government has interfered with the liberty of the Vatican, this newspaper sees the first effort of the Pope to place before a peace congress the entire Roman question.

The Giornale d'Italia asserts that the official Vatican explanation has lessened, but not destroyed, the unfavorable impression caused by the interview.

"Why did the Pope speak? What induced him to speak to a newspaper?" it asks, then proceeds to quote many prelates who still refuse to believe the intervjew authentic.

The Tribuna makes this pointed comment:

"Such publications are extremely dangerous to the papacy and to the church."

Rome, June 8.—The Pope gave an audience yesterday to Cardinal Falconio nad Mgr. Riordan, rector of the Irish College. After the audience the report was again circulated that the Vatican is preparing to publish further facts concerning efforts by the Pope and the Vatican to prevent the war and the measures now being taken to ned it. It is reported that a papal nuncio will be forthcoming covering these facts and also the La Liberta interview. With respect to the latter it is stated that the nuncio will justify what the Pope said to the correspondent.

It is also rumored that the Pope is contemplating a meeting of the Roman Catholic bishops, at which will be expressed the feeling of the Catholic world toward the war.

Says $1,200 is Necessary.

Chicago, June 28.—A motorman or conductor cannot live in Chicago on less than $1,200 a year and support a family decently, according to W. D. Mahon, international president of the street car men's union. President Mahon made this claim today when Mayor Thompson, acting as umpire, opened the arbitration proceedings to settle the differences between 14,000 traction empolyes and the traction magnates.

FOILS ATEMPTS TO CUT HIS LINES

Czar Preserves Them Intact by Retiring Southeast of Lemberg

THIRTY MILE FRONT

Muscovites Make Fresh Attack All Along Line From Stanislau to Galician Capital.

Petrograd, June 28—The grand duke has frustrated a determined attempt by Austro-Germans to pierce Russian line between Lemberg and Brzazany and cut off the southeastern armies from those operating east of Lemberg.

The Russians, it is officially admitted, have fallen back along a thirty-mile front southeast of Lemberg. But by withdrawing his forces from Bobrka to Zaravno, the grand duke has kept his lines intact and avoided the trap set for him by von Mackensen and von Linsingen. The new Russian positions, along a small river west of Rohatyn, are strongly fortified, and are being maintained in the face of determined assaults.

The arrival of the Czar at the Galician front has inspired the Russian troops to fresh attacks along the line from Lemberg to Stanislau. An official statement issued at mid night reported the capture of 1,600 Austro-Germans and two machine guns.

In the fighting north of Warsaw and in the extreme southeast, north of Czernowitz, all enemy attacks in the last twenty-four hours have been repulsed.

The Turks around the Armenian town of Van have been heavily reenforced, according to officialdispatches today and have attacked the Russian outposts in the Caucasus, Russian forces defeated a regiment of Turkish regulars and two regiments of Kurdish irregulars in the Meliasghert valley.

LEE'S MILITARY PLANS.

His Propose d Offensive-Defensive Strategy Which Might Have Made South Victor.

Rev. William W. Page, of Cornwall N. Y., who was captain in General Robert E. Lee's bodyguard of scouts, guides and couriers, Thirty-ninth Virginia Battalion of Cavalry, has an interesting historical work in prepration, in which hes hows that while yet only the commander-in-chief of the Virginia forces, by commission of Governor John Letcher, General Lee planned the first battle of Bull Run, with a view to crossing the Potomac immediately to the Susquehanna River, establishing his line from the Chesapeake Bay and swinging around by Harrisburg, Pa., to Lake Erie nad Niagara Falls, cutting the North in two and destroying all railroad connections between the West and East. This was General Lee's offensive-defensive plan from the beginning to the close of the war.

Before this was matured Confederate capital was moved from Montgomery, Ala., to Richmond, when President Davis took command and conducted a wholly defensive campaign. When General Lee took the field in 1862, after his brilliant defeat of McClellan around Richmond and of General John Pope at the second Bull Run, he immediately crossed the Potomac, by consent of Mr. Davis, to carry out his original plan to make the Susquehanna the Confederate ine. This was defeated by the celebrated "lost order," which put Lee's army at the mercy of McClellan, to extricate which necessitated the bloody battle of Antietam. Again after the signal defeat of General Jo Hooker at Chancellorsville, with the Susquehanna still in view, he crossed the Potomac, making straight for Harrisburg, Pa., when the unfortunate absence of his cavalry under its peerless leader, General Stuart, so essential to him for information of the movements of the enemy, occurred, under the impression that General Hooker, whom he had easily outgeneraled, was still in Virginia, he aws surprised and entangled with the army of General Meade at Gettysburg, and under the circumstances was unable to break through the enemy's lines, notwithstanding the leathless and unsupported charge of Picket's division.

When General U. S. Grant was made commander-in-chief with four armies to take Richmond, and at the same time with General Sherman's army, which was under Grant's command in the Southwest, to advance against General Joseph Johnston on Atlanta, Ga., at the same time General Lee planned, and Mr. Davis approved the plan that General Lee should stop General Grant in the Wilderness and corry him on his (General Lee's, outside lines to Spotsylvania ourthouse, the North Anna River, Cold Harbor, and around Richmond to Petersburg, Va. At the same time General Lee was to move in Virginia General Joseph E. Johnston should make a masterly retreat before Sherman, not risking a general engagement until he should reach Atlanta, Ga., when, abandoning Atlanta for the time to Sherman, by the two railroad lines available and fully prepared, to ship and throw his whole army with Lee's upon Grant at Petersburg, Va. On crushing Grant's army at Petersburg, Lee and Johnston would at once cross the Potomac and make for the Susquehanna, which would necessarily cause Sherman to hurry from Atlanta to the defense of Washington. How well both General Lee and General Johnston concealed and carried out their parts of this great tragedy the world knows, and that at the very crisis when Richmond, Atlanta, Washington, the Confederacy and all wert rembling in the balance, General Joseph Johnston at Atlanta was relieved of command and General Hood was ordered to hold Atlanta.

In his enthusiasm the author holds that Genral Lee was so superior as a military man that if he had been unfettered by his commander-in-chief, if he had been made commander-in-chief at the first he would have been successful, even at the first battle of Bull Run, in his great strategical offensive-defensive objective; and that, instead of going down to defat, he would have saved the South from its sorrows nad its horrors, and would have dictated the terms of peace and reunion to the North.

HAND-TO-HAND BATTLE IN WEST

Violent Nocturnal Engagement Results in German Defeat

MEET MORE SETBACKS.

French Claim Victories During Past Few Days At Several Points, Including Raid on Douai.

Paris, Jnue 28—A terrific battle, in which both combatants resorted to the use of hand grenades, was fought by the French and Germans Saturday night in the vicinity of Quennevieres and near the recently captured German positions called "the labyrinth," according to the official statement issued by the War Department. The report adds that a German surprise attack on Arracourt, near the Lorraine border, failed, and that 20 bombs were dropped by French aviators on the Douai and neighboring railway stations. The statement follows:

"There is nothing to add to our communication concerning the region to the north of Arras, except that the Germans have succeeded in getting a footing again on the Creux d'Ablain road to Angres along a front of about 200 metres (600 feet).

"An intermittent bombardment took place during the night between Neuville and Angres.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne great activity was displayed during the night, especially near Quennevieres, where, after a combat in which hand grenades were used, a feeble attempt was made by the Germans to advance from their trenches The attempt was easily repelled.

"In the Argonne forest, at Bagatelle, the Germans made an attack of extreme violence early in the night After a very hot struggle they finally were repulsed.

"On the heights of the Meuse, at the Calonne trench, fighting continued all night. Our positions, and our gains made previously were maintained in their entirety.

"In the Lorraine region, the enemy after firing a number of incendiary shells on Arracourt attempted a surprise attack on the town with a company and a half of men. The attempt failed.

"There is nothing to report on the rest of the front."

WIFE REPUDIATES HIM

Thomas G. Forney Cast Off For Attack on Her Father.

Washington, June 28—Thomas G. Forney, a young Washington lawyer, is held in Pittsburgh for an alleged murderous assault upon his millionaire father-in-law, J. Franklin Schneider. He was repudiated yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Florence Schneider Forney.

Mr. Schneider returned to Washington yesterday from Pittsburgh to assure his wife and daughter that he was not seriously injured. He will return to Pittsburgh for the hearing.

Mrs. Forney says:

"I cannot rid myself too quickly of a man who attempts to murder my father. I am gathering up all his belongings and everything that might remind me of him, and will put them out of the house. I am done with him forever."

Mr. Schneider himself declares that he believes deep-laid plots had been entered into to murder him for his fortune. He intimated that other arrests are likely to be made in the case. He added his belief that the plot had for its end not only the murder of himself, but also the murder of his wife and daughter.

Pittsburgh, June 28—That Thomas G. Forney, attorney, of Washington, now being held here on a charge of having attempted to kill his father in-law, Franklin Schneider, wealthy candy manufacturer, also of Washington, was the tool of a gang of crooks, is the opinion expressed by police authorities. The attack upon Mr. Schneider took place in the room of a local hotel early Thursday morning. He was struck on the head with a hammer, but his straw hat deflected the blow.

Forney, according to Capt. Homer Crooks, of the detective department, has made a detailed written statement to the police, confessing his part in the plot to assassinate his father-in-law and implicating George McHenry, said to be a waiter now under arrest in Washington.

According to the statement McHenry was to have been paid $500 for killing Mr. Schneider. Forney admitted, the police claim, that he accompanied McHenry to Pittsburgh, paying the latter's fare, but insisted that he came with McHenry to prevent him from doing any harm.

Forney said he was 32 years old and that he and Mr. Schneider's daughter were married last December.

BIG WOOL SHIPMENT.

Raiser of Prize Breed of Sheep is Taking Orders From Boston.

W. B. Doak has been at Clifton Station, Va., aranging a shipment of wool and mohair to Boston. His wool bearing farm is carrying probably the largest flock of southdown sheep and Angoras in the country. They produce "bright" staple grading three-eighths blood combing equal if not superior to any in the world, not even surpassed b ythe Australian merino breed.

An interesting feature of the wool trade is the complete embargo against transportation when big speculators re-shipping to Germany were caught. A wool shortage was imminent this spring and is still predicted.

Richmond, June 28.—Kansas City is expected to arrange a suitable program for the entertainment of Governor Henry C. Stuart, his staff and the Richmond Light Infantry Blues during their stay of five hours in that metropolis on Sunday, July 4. The Commercial Club of Kansas City has written to William T. Reed, president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, asking that the compliments of the organization be presented to Governor Stuart with assurances that everything will be done to make the visit memorable.

The secretary of the club has inquired how many members of the Goevrnor's staff will accompany the executive and the number of officers and enlisted men. The suggestion is made that a detail of Missouri National Guard will be available to act as an escort for the Governor and the Blues. The Governor's special will leave Kansas City at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of the Fourth for Denver.

The letter from the club concludes with this paragraph:

"Please present our compliments to Governor Stuart, and say to him that the Commercial Club has had the pleasure of entertaining Governor Montague, of Virginia, as well as some of the other distinguished men of the Old Dominion. I am sure Virginia will have a most cordial welcome, many of our best citizens having been born in that grand old State."

LOCAL BOARD OF REVIEW

Organization Will Take Place Tomorrow Night at Robinson Moncure's Office

The local board of review of state tax returns, recently appointed by Judge L. C. Barley of the Corporation Court, and regarded as one of the most important parts of the machinery created by the special session of the legislature to administer the new state tax laws, will be organized tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the office of Robinson Moncure, a member of the board, at 121 south Royal street. A chairman will be elected and the time and place of holding the meetings of the board will be decided upon.

In a statement issued today prepared by Robinson Moncure for the board it is pointed out that the commissioner of the revenue will be present and a mass of uncontested assessments and particularly personal tangible or chattle property assessments will be disposed of. The statement continues:

"Any person desiring to be present may come, but this initial meeting will not take up any contested matters. Later, due legal notice of time and place of meeting to hear contested matters and particularly license, intangible personality and realty assessments, will be given by the board and parties feeling themselves aggrieved, the state of other contestant will be required to file a statement of their claim in writing and opportunity will be given them and their opponnents and all necessary witnesses to be heard, to the end that justice be done. The contested matter meetings will be held at both day and night sessions, in the Corporation Court room in order to serve the convenience of the general public.

"It is important that all persons be careful in making their returns or statements to the various officers for taxation and to see that same are accurate, and the board believes that the general public wishes to do what is substantially right and to comply with the law, but inaccurate reports (whether as to tangible personality such as chattels, etc., intangible personality such as notes or stocks, licenses, realty values, or other things, necessarily will create comment, require explanation and correction with more or less publicity, and where intentionally incorrect or the law is ignored will bring the imposition of burdensome penalties.

"Of course the Courts and the State Board of Review have review and supervisory powers over the Local Board of Review."

ONE YEAR OF WAR.

One year ago today the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife were shot and killed in the little Bosnian town of Serajevo by Garvio Prinzip. It was this act which ultimately resulted in eleven nations going to war. The war has caused a loss to the various belligerents of more than 6,000,000 men, dead, wounded and prisoners, and more than 500 ships. Of these about 120 were war vessels.

Although Germany has from the beginning used every means to smother discontent among a large percentage of her people it has occassionally leaked out that many Teutons are tired of war. The most positive confirmation of these reports was afforded last week.

The board of directors or managing committee of the Social Democratic party in Germany published in the Vorwaerts a full-page appeal for peace.

This interesting document calls for an end to the war under circumstances which will make possible friendships with neighboring nations, and sets forth most clearly the opposition of the party to territorial conquest and annexation. The people want peace, it declares, and the government is called upon, in the name of humanity, to make known its readiess to enter peace negotiations.

The appeal is published under the heading, "Social Democracy and Peace."

Publication of this appeal for peace resulted in the suspension by the German government of the Socialist newspaper. This paper has not hesitated on several occasions to express views regarding the war which aroused resentment in official circles.

Signs of internal dissensions are multiplying in Germany and Austria.

The extraordinary harangue of the King of Bavaria to a crowd outside of the palace is unexampled in Germany.

Socialist protests against the war which are now being heard in the Reichstag increase the impression that national unity on the question of war is beginning to break up.

The government is redoubling its efforts to keep all news of the outside world from entering Germany, and people entering the country are closely searched for foreign newspapers. Any one found with such papers in his possession, or caught circulating them, is sent to prison for months.

WILL SUFFER NO EVASION.

It is stated in Berlin that Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard's reply to the officials charged with drafting the German answer to the American note indicated the serious nature of the situation.

Dr. Meyer Gerhard was sent to Berlin by the German ambassador at Washington to indicate to the German government the real attitude of the American government and people. He reported that the sentiment in the United States had been growing somewhat more favorable from the German viewpoint, and particularly more favorable regarding the prohibition of the export of munitions to the allies. The sinking of the Lusitania, however, undid all this. The state of feeling in the United States at the present time, he explained, was such that it would not be satisfied with unnecessary delay in the answer, nor with an answer which appeared to be evasive or failed to meet the issue squarely.

It remains to be seen whether the element represented by von Tirpitz or that by more conservative Germans is to get the Kaiser's ear.

BEWARE THE BLACK HAND.

One of the recent bulletins issued by the Department of Health of Virginia has upon the title page a black hand. Upon the thumb is the word "filth," and on the fingers "bad water," "bad milk," "carelessness," "flies."

The bulletin deals mainly with typhoid fever and makes a number of practical suggestions which should be heeded by all means. This malady exists sporadically every year, but last summer it almost approached the dimensions of an epidemic in some parts of Virginia. There were many cases in Alexandria, and every exertion should be made this summer to minimize the disease, if not make the city exempt from this annual disorder. We have had our "clean-up days" recently, but there is still much that should be done in the way of placing the city in a sanitary condition. Pools of stagnant water still exist in some places, and dumping grounds in certain sections should be investigated. The valley below Windmill Hill is the dumping ground of the neighborhood. Often dead chickens are thrown in the high weeds at the east end of the tunnel and a night or two ago a box which should have been carried beyond the city's limits was deposited there. The northern half of this hill belongs to the Southern Railway Company, which acquired it over forty years ago. The company has never used it for their purposes, and it is generally surrounded by noxious growths and decaying vegetables and animal matter. We have a health department with two officials, and this place should receive immediate attention, as well as others which form Alexandria' valley of Gehenna.

THE KAISER'S GREAT BURDEN.

It is said that many Berliners would not recognize the Kaiser now is they were to meet him unexpectedly and in citizens' clothes, for he has greatly changed since last summer.

In eleven months the Kaiser has grown twenty years older. He walks with his head bowed forward, he who a year ago was as straight as any officer in his famous guards, his hair is almost white, as is also his mustache.

He is feeling the heavy responsibility resting on him, particularly because of the dreadful loss of life. Although no casualty lists have been published for some time everybody knows that the losses suffered during last month's campaign in Galacia and Poland must have been appalling.

To the burdens of the Kaiser comes also the burden of sorrow he has to carry as a man. It is whispered everywhere that he is cruelly disappointed in the crown prince, who he realizes is absolutely unfit to become his successor.

Nobody really knows where the crown princess is, but it is generally feared that a royal divorce is inevitable. It is said that even the Kaiserin sympathizes with her daughter-in-law.

The proud and haughty caste who are to blame for all the calamities that have befallen the country have lost nothing of their boorish and overbearing manners.

Several papers state that at various health resorts, where the idlers of the Junker ilk have congregated to feel the effects of the war as little as possible, respectability, which they imagine themselves to represent exclusively, sniffs and draws her skirts together when the offensive hospital clothing of the German wounded soldieds is seen in the pump room, on the terrace, or at the concert.

JUDGE HARRIS SUCCEEDS SLATON.

The very age and body of the times, its form and pressure, was in evidence last Saturday in Atlanta, Ga., when it was deemed necessary to have two regiments of soldiers on hand to protect the retiring Governor John M. Slaton, while he was in the act of turning over the great seal of the state to Governor-elect Nat Harris. While no overt acts were attempted, the ceremonies were marred by hisses at the retiring Governor. Those who insulted Slaton for doing what he conscientiously believed to be his duty in commuting the sentence of Leo M. Frank, do not, however, represent the people of Georgia. The former executive later delivered an address at the Macon Rotary Club luncheon in honor of the new Governor, Judge Harris.

Governor Slaton was introduced by the toastmaster, Rev. Ashby Jones, pastor of the First Baptist Chruch of Augusta. During the course of his remarks and while discussing the subject of democracy, he turned to Governor Slaton to say:

"That misguided and irresponsible crowd which swept the streets of this great city toward your home the other night did not typify democracy. Genuine democracy is only when all the people speak at once."

True democracy is but little understood by many of the rank and file of this world, most of whom seem to imagine its means mob rule.

CRIES FOR MOTHER.

While every war tends, to a certain extent, to blunt the sensibilities of those engaged in them, carnage throws many pathetic pictures upon the screen. "The Drummer Boy of Waterloo" has been sung for a century, while the touching story of Casabianca at the battle of Aboukir has brought tears to many while in childhood. The present great war is producing its pictures too.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, who arrived last week on her way to the Women's Peace Congress in San Francisco, told what a British officer had described to her as the most terrible of the whole tragedy of the battlefield.

"'It is not the shrieks of the wounded as they fall,' he said,". "It is not the sight of the dead as they lie there, but it is the cry of the wounded boys calling for their mothers, and there is no one to do anything for them. They are the boys of 16 and 17 and even younger. They may say, "mother" of "mutter," but in their agony all those boys call for the one who has given them the greatest care all their lives."

NEWS OF THE DAY

A British aeroplane dropped three bombs on Smyrna one day last week, inflicting over 70 casualties in the garrison.

Mrs. Jess Willard is dying of tuberculosis, according to four Buffalo physicians. They declare she cannot live more than a month.

A severe electrical storm struck Gloversvile, N. Y., yesterday afternoon. All traffic was held up. Hail fell in such quantities that boys snow balled one another.

Cardinal Gibbons is opposed to woman's suffrage. In an open letter he says: "Woman she is indeed a princess, but her God-given rule should lie in domestic and gentler fields and ways."

Troops of the Union of South Africa, led by Gen. Botha, have captured Kalkfield, a town of German Southwest Africa, on the Swakopmund-Grootfontein Railway, forty miles south of Omaruru.

An attempt has been made to replace Gen. Joffre with Gen. Gallieni and to overthrow the French government. A remarkably close parallel to the English political situation is afforded by the situation in France.

That the Police Board be abolished and a single commissioner with supreme authority and responsible for the conduct of the whole Police Department be named in its place is one of the matters before the special Council committee of Richmond on vice investigation.

The Rt. Rev. E. Toll, suffragan bishop of the Chicago diocese of the Episcopal Church, dropped dead yesterday on the stairs leading to the elevated railroad in Chicago. He was 71 years old, and had been a minister for 45 years. Bishop Toll was born in England.

A general shut-down of Chicago's building industry, which, it was said, will throw out of employment more than 200,000 workers, went into effect Saturday. The shut-down is regarded by contractors and labor leaders as the beginning of one of the greatest labor wars in recent years.

Reports from London are confirmed by dispatches received from Cairo that the Italian fleet is going to take part in the operations in the Dardanelles. All Italy is convinced that this participation is necessary on account of the situation in Tripoli, where Turkish emissaries are stirring up trouble.

The number of fatal industrial accidents among American wage-earners, including both sexes, says a statement issued by the Department of Labor, may be conservatively estimated at 25,000 a year, and the number of injuries involving a disability of more than four weeks at approximately 700,000.

Imminent open rupture of relations between Italy and Turkey and radical changes in the allies' plan of operations against the Dardanelles are forecast in the news of today. Nearly all the Italians have left Turkey and the Italo-Turkish relations have become strained to such a point that a rupture is expected at an early date.

A severe hail storm swept over the southern part of the country about Sharpsburg, Md., Saturday night, causing much damage to crops. The hail was about the size of mothballs and fell for about 15 minutes. The hail was piled in drifts and after the storm could be shoveled from the sides of the buildings and from places where it had fallen from roofs.

A severe thunderstorm passed over Hagerstown, Md., Saturday afternoon. Lightning struck the tower of Trinity Lutheran Church and knocked off a 200-hundred pound stone cap and damaged the ornamental work. The falling stone drove a hole through the concrete pavement in front of the church. Two persons, 20 feet from the spot where it fell, made narrow escapes from being hit.

During the last few weeks the monastery at Einsiedeln, Canton, of Schwitz, has been carefully repaired and modernized to make it ready, it is stated, in the event of the Pope going there to reside temporarily. The German and Austrian Ministers to the Vatican, who now have headquarters at Lugano, Swtizerland, are favoring by propaganda this change of residence for the Pope.

According to a story published in France an attempt to kill the Kaiser was made in Belgium about the last of May, and failed by the merest margin. It says that a railroad bridge was blown up only a few moments before the Kaiser's train was due and that the locomotive was stopped just in time to prevent a wreck. The German explanation is that the bridge was mined at the beginning of the war and that the explosion was accidental, but it is reported that many of the Kaiser's soldiers stationed near the bridge were arrested.

Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former dictator of Mexico, and Gen. Pasquale Orozco, the famous Mexican leader, were arrested at Fort Bliss last night on a Federal warrant charging them with violation of neutrality. A short time later they were released on bonds, Huerta under $15,000 bail and Orozco under $7,500. The arrest was made on orders of the United States District Attorney at San Antonio, presumably acting under instructions from Washington. They will be given a preliminary hearing on Thursday.

Ten thousand persons who had assembled on the campus at Fort Myer yesterday morning to attend the military field mass were stirred by Rt. Rev. Bishop D. D. O'Connell, of Richmond, when he declared that the American flag should be an emblem of justice for weeping humanity the world over, as well as a symbol of local patriotism. The altar was a scene of bright vestments and American flags. The huge throng knelt in silence as the prelates moved about on the improvised altor, celebrating the mass. In attendance was an armed company of the Fifth Cavalry and a detachment of marines.

A dispatch from Paris says it is becoming evident that the retirement of Sir John French is only a matter of weeks. The supineness of the British commander-in-chief has aroused much bitter comment and no one will be surprised to hear that he has been decorated with the Order of the Garter and called home to make way for Gen. Smith-Dorrien or Gen. Robertson, the only Englishman who has risen from the ranks to a staff position. Premier Asquith's recent visit to the front to smooth over the difficulties between Kitchener and French failed. French has surrounded himself with members of the nobility, while Kitchener believes in picking his subordinates for efficiency alone.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Charles Fulton, 16 year old son of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Fulton, of Fredericksburg, was drowned in the Rappahannock River Friday afternoon.

T. M. Carrington, of Richmond, was re-elected president of the United States Tobacco Association, which closed its annual session at Old Point last night.

Harry Stewart, defaulting cashier of the First National Bank of New Market, has been given five years in the Federal prison at Moundsville, W. Va. His shortage was about $4,000.

The Virginia Blue Ridge Railway, work on which was commenced last year, is nearing completion. The railroad starts from Tye River, on the Southern Railway, and runs into the great timber and agricultural sections of Amherst and Nelson counties, going by way of Lowesville toward Massies Mills and Tyro.

About 9 o'clock Saturday morning a negro, about 25 years old, entered the home of Harvey Meade, a traveling salesman for the Thomas Andrews Grocery Company, at Norton, and made a desperate attempt to outrage Mrs. Meade, who was alone. Mrs. Meade was choked almost to unconsciousness. By some means the negro became frightened and made a hasty escape.

The first Presbyterian Church of Staunton, the old charge of Woodrow Wilson's father, is conducting a campaign to raise $50,000 to build a Sunday School and remodel the church. It began on Thursday and will end Monday night. Up to Saturday night $25,311 had been subscribed, and it is expected that all or nearly all the sum will be pledged by the end of the campaign. The Rev. Dr. A. M. Frazier is pastor of the church.

During an exciting ball game Saturday at Dorchester, between Tom's Creek and Dorchester teams, trouble arose between Elbert Osborne, county policeman, of Tom's Creek, and Nat Wilis, of Dorchester, over crossing the ropes enclosing the ball grounds. In the scuffle, friends of Willis held Osborne's arms, preventing him drawing his gun. Willis fired, striking Osborne in the center of the forehead, killing him instantly. Willis was arrested and is in the Wise jail.

Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union of America, who is in Norfolk from San Francisco, declares efforts are being made to tie up shipping on the Atlantic Coast by parties working in the interest of Germany. "We know and a member of the Cabinet knows," he said, "that seamen and stevedores have been offered $10 each per week as long as the strike lasts." Should the plan prove a success, shipment of munitions to the allies would be seriously hampered.

THREE DROWN ON SUNDAY.

Canoeist And Two Young Bathers Pay Dearly for Sport.

Pittsburgh, June 28.—A hot Sunday afternoon brought out hundreds of canoes on the lower Allegheny River, and Charles Merser, aged 23, of Evergreen Road, Ross township, and Harry Couch, aged 24, of Millvale, were paddling in a canoe, near the middle of the river at Warner Station, when the craft, as a result of one of the occupants changing his seat, capsized. Neither of the men was able to swim, and Merser, after struggling in the water a few seconds, threw up his hands and sank. Couch managed to cling to the upturned canoe till help came.

Lancaster, Pa., June 28.—While John, the 12 year old son of Harry Debolt, of Lancaster, and two unidentified companions, were bathing yesterday afternoon in a pond in Jacob Pontz's brickyard, Debolt ventured beyond his depth and was drowned. His frightened companions ran away.
